

NEW YORK TO SEND
SPLIT DELEGATIONHughes Loses Five Districts in Primary Vote.

ROOSEVELT IN CONTROL

Odell Faction Fails to Render Aid to Governor.

National Committeeman Ward, William Barnes, Jr., and Other Leaders Will Support Taft in Chicago Convention—Three Districts in the City Fail to Indorse the "Native Son" in Mass Conventions.

New York, April 9.—President Roosevelt and Chairman Woodruff dominated the Republican primaries throughout the State to-day. Five districts refused to instruct for Gov. Hughes, which action came as a distinct surprise to all the leaders.

Both Roosevelt and Woodruff apparently were willing to have the delegates to Chicago instructed for the "native son," but in the Odell districts especially unexpected opposition to Gov. Hughes was encountered.

White Plains showed a large majority for Taft; William Barnes, Jr., in the Twenty-third, prevented instructions, and the Seventh, Ninth, and Fourteenth districts in the city of New York failed to go on record for the governor.

First Open Bolt to Taft.

Westchester County Republicans at the Nineteenth district convention in White Plains this afternoon made the first open bolt from the Hughes to the Taft standard, while New York County leaders were trying to agree upon the Hughes "big four" to carry the banner to the national convention of the party in Chicago next July.

The defection in Westchester was led by William L. Ward, the Republican national committeeman of the State, who asserted in so doing that he had been guided by a thorough canvass of the sentiment of his district, which he found heavily for Taft. This, politicians here assert, is the beginning of the end of the Hughes boom, and foes of the governor declared that when the convention meets, Hughes' name might not be presented at all.

Figures Bear Him Out.

Mr. Ward backed up his assertion with figures which would tend to show that of the 1,500 names of Republicans canvassed half were for the nomination of William H. Taft, while only 500 were for Hughes.

Mr. Ward announced that he would vote for Taft on the first ballot at the Chicago convention, to which he and Congressman John E. Andrews had been sent immediately after the taking of a straw ballot of the delegates, and the announcement that Mr. Ward had canvassed the district.

Of the delegates, the entire twenty-nine voted for Taft, and the large crowd of representative Republicans who crowded the hall insisted on giving some token of their sentiment by voting also. Every one voted for Taft; none for Hughes.

The most significant fact is that Mr. Ward withheld the results of this canvass until the delegates and spectators had voted on the question. He then announced that a careful canvass had been made of all classes of voters in the county, including business men, commuters, factory employees, and farmers, and that of the 1,500 names received by the Republican county convention, 750 were for Taft and 500 for Hughes, with the rest divided among other candidates.

Explains His Position.

Mr. Ward said: "We took this poll because it was necessary for us before going to Chicago to know the sentiment of the Republican voters. I think the common sense of the people can be relied on, and in this case the sense of the people is unmistakably for Taft. I do not believe in the inconsistent practice of utilizing a good man like Gov. Hughes for factional purposes and of electing and instructing delegates to vote for him at Chicago when the real sentiment in the districts is either unknown or for Taft." It was practically decided by the leaders of the New York Republican machine to-day to recommend to the convention to be held at Carnegie Hall on Saturday, for the selection of the four delegates-at-large to represent the State of New York at the national convention at Chicago, the names of Seth Low and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of this city; Edward H. Butler, of Erie, and Frederick R. Hazard, of Onondaga.

BARNES' OPPOSITION OPEN.

Hughes' Supporters Lose in Twenty-third District Fight.

Albany, N. Y., April 9.—In open opposition to Gov. Hughes was the announcement of William Barnes, Jr., at the Twenty-third district Congressional convention, comprising Albany and Schenectady Counties, which to-day named national delegates to the Chicago convention.

William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, and Mayor Horace S. Van Vleet, of Schenectady, were named as delegates, and Henry M. Sage, of Albany, and Charles E. Palmer, of Schenectady, as alternates. There were no instructions.

Mr. Barnes was unable to attend the convention, but Luther Warner, the chairman of the Albany convention and city Republican committee, read a speech of Mr. Barnes, in which the latter announced that he would vote for Taft, not Hughes, at Chicago.

THREE TURN DOWN HUGHES.

New York City Districts Refuse to Instruct Delegates.

New York, April 9.—Of the seventeen Congressional districts of this city in which conventions were held to-night for the election of delegates to the Republican national convention, three refused to instruct their delegates for Hughes.

This will mean that there will be a split delegation from this city to Chicago.

ROYAL INCOME CUT OFF.

Portugal Civil List Must Be Approved by the Cortes.

Liabon, April 9.—Since the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luis on February 1, King Manuel and his mother, ex-Queen Amelie, have received nothing from the civil list. They have defrayed all their expenses from their private income.

This is owing to the Cortes not being in session, as the civil list must be approved by the Cortes on the accession of a new sovereign. When the Cortes meets the government will make the civil list the first business to be considered.

It is understood that the government also proposes to grant an annuity to Amelie. It is reported that King Manuel, foreseeing opposition to this plan, will request the government to abandon the proposal, undertaking to provide for his mother from his own allowance.

RECEPTION TO MR. STRAUS.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Visits Boyhood Scenes.

Atlanta, Ga., April 9.—Oscar Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, accompanied by Mrs. Straus and daughter, arrived here this afternoon, and to-night was tendered a reception at the Piedmont Hotel by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary Straus will remain here to-morrow and be the guest of the chamber of commerce. He has been in Georgia since Monday, when he spoke at Savannah. After speaking in Savannah, he went to Columbus and Tallahassee, where he lived when a boy, and met the friends of his boyhood.

The Secretary says there are few signs of the panic in Georgia.

DE SAGAN IS A SOCIAL LION

Prince Helie Spends the Day as Guest of Mme. Gould.

Press Agents and Restaurateurs Expect Him to Make Debut Soon in Inner Circles of Society.

New York, April 9.—Society is "taking up" the Prince de Sagan. To-day he spent practically the entire day at the St. Regis as the guest of Mme. Gould and her good friends, the Tyler Morrises, who gave a luncheon and dinner in his honor, at which he was introduced to Miss Dorothy Taylor, Freeman Smith, and others.

Prince de Sagan called at about 1 o'clock, and after luncheon spent the better part of the afternoon in company with Mme. Gould. Toward the latter part of the afternoon he went away again to change to evening dress, while Mme. Gould and the Morrises took the air in Central Park.

The prince reappeared again at the St. Regis at 6:30 o'clock, and at the dinner met a half dozen social leaders, to whom he was introduced. Not a single member of the Gould family called on Mme. Gould to-day.

Distinctly, to-day was Sagan day. Not only has he gained ground in the affections of Mme. Gould, but he is also in the fair way soon to make his debut in the inner circles of New York society. His name is posted at several clubs, and at the Union Club he is a frequent visitor. Press agents and restaurateurs look upon him as qu'le coming social lion.

ITALIANS ATTACK CATHEDRAL.

Mob Resorts Amalgamation of Diocese by Storming Church.

Rome, April 9.—A fierce religious riot occurred to-day at Troia, province of Puglia, arising from resentment against the Vatican for amalgamating the diocese of Troia with that of Lucera.

A mob attacked the palace of the bishop, who favors the amalgamation, and smashed all the windows. It also stormed the cathedral, where the canons were assembled for service, and wrecked the bishop's throne.

The incensed people piled up the furniture and set it on fire in an attempt to burn the cathedral. The infantry was hastily summoned and the crowds were cleared out of the cathedral at the point of the bayonet.

Tennessee Man Deserts Bride, Who Weds Another After Assured of Deserter's Death—Men Agree to Abide by Decision of Woman—Second Spouse Will Go Away.

Bristol, Va., April 9.—After an absence of five years, during which time he had been mourned as dead, John T. Strong, of Jonesboro, Tenn., suddenly made his appearance at his old home, to find his young wife, whom he had left without explanation while she was still a bride, married to another man and the mother of two pretty little children, as the result of her second union.

The woman, who is now thirty-two years old, became the bride of William Curtis only after she had been assured that not only had she been deserted, but that her husband was dead.

Is Cordially Received.

Strong was cordially received by both Mrs. Strong-Curtis and her new husband. Although realizing that his wife was happy in her new home, he was unwilling to go away and leave her in possession of the other man without making effort to win his old place at her side.

Accordingly, after talking matters over with Curtis, it was agreed that the woman herself should be allowed to make a decision as to which of the two men she preferred to live with. Mrs. Strong-Curtis at first felt that she could not give Curtis up, but finally, with the fervor of the first and only love coming full upon her, she decided in favor of Strong.

Curtis Still Loves Her.

Curtis thereupon, although declaring his uncompromising love for the woman who is the mother of his children, agreed to abide by her decision and his agreement with Strong to submit the matter to her without a murmur.

He will, it is said, commence formal proceedings to annul his marriage with Mrs. Strong.

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR DIES.

Georgia Minister Overworked as Result of Revival Services.

Atlanta, Ga., April 9.—Rev. John D. Jordan, pastor of the Jackson Hill Baptist Church, committed suicide in his study this afternoon as the result of overwork. Revival services are in progress at the Jackson Hill church, one of the largest in the city, and Dr. Jordan has been working hard. After the services closed to-day, he remarked: "I am so tired," went to his study, and turned on the gas. He was dead when found about 3 o'clock.

IT'S SNOWING IN JAPAN.

And There Is Omission to Officially Note the Fact in New York.

New York, April 9.—If you are expecting a cable message from Japan this afternoon, don't be disturbed if it doesn't come till after dinner. As a matter of fact, it may not be delivered until supper time, which, of course, means after the theater; and, unless the snowflakes in the far East get big and turn to rain, the message may not get here until to-morrow at breakfast time.

As put officially in a bulletin sent out by the Commercial Cable Company, at 20 Broad street, to-day, the news is as follows: "Owing to a snowstorm in Japan, messages for Kobe and Osaka will be subject to some delay."

MRS. SAGE AIDS PRINCETON

Gift of Quarter Million for Freshman Dormitory Accepted.

Board of Trustees Makes Faculty Changes and Announces a Number of Smaller Gifts.

Princeton, N. J., April 9.—At a meeting of the trustees of Princeton University this afternoon several interesting statements were made. The most important of these was a gift of $250,000 from Mrs. Russell Sage. The trustees received the offer in a letter in which Mrs. Sage set forth the conditions upon which the acceptance depends.

It is the idea of the donor to give Princeton a dormitory suitable for freshmen. Hitherto the first-year men have been forced to seek accommodations in town. The only restricting clause in the offer is the right Mrs. Sage holds to approve the choice of the architect and look over the plans of the building.

The board of trustees accepted the offer unanimously, and adopted a vote of thanks to Mrs. Sage.

STEPHEN S. PALMER WAS ELECTED A LIFE TRUSTEE OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Cyrus F. Brackett, M. D., LL. D., who has been the Henry professor of physics for thirty-five years, resigned from the chair. The board accepted the resignation, and made Dr. Brackett professor of physics emeritus.

A number of small gifts amounting to $10,000 were also announced.

Frank F. Abbott, Ph. D., since 1891 a professor of Latin in Chicago University, was chosen professor of classics.

Like Bomb in Church.

Like a bomb exploding in a church, the message fell upon a tired, indifferent senate, taking matters easily after yesterday's fight. Many members were absent, and the move was unexpected. When the message was read, there was an immediate galvanizing into life of the forces for and against the governor.

Senator Raines moved that that part of the message relating to race-track gambling be laid on the table and the other portions referred to their appropriate committees. Grady was at once on his feet in opposition, and denounced the governor for his "impertinent message."

"The governor treats us as if we were little German band," he said.

McCarren would Reprove. McCarren rose and said that he thought the senate should frame a message addressed in respectful terms, but which would in effect tell the governor "to mind his own business." Raines at once assailed McCarren, who, he said, had "exceeded his privileges as a member of the senate," by daring to make such a suggestion.

ROBERT HUNTER INJURED.

Wealthy Socialist, Thrown from Horse, Has Collar Bone Broken.

Stamford, Conn., April 9.—Robert Hunter, the millionaire socialist who figured conspicuously in the demonstration of New York's unemployed, that led to the recent bomb throwing in Union Square, was thrown from a saddle horse near his home, in Norton, Conn., this afternoon and severely injured. His collar bone is broken and he may be hurt internally.

At Mr. Hunter's home to-night Mrs. Hunter declined to give any of the details of the accident.

"Mr. Hunter fell and broke his collar bone. We do not consider his condition serious," was all that she would say.

WOMAN KILLS POLICEMAN.

Gunsmith's Wife Accidentally Pulls Trigger While Showing Pistol.

Philadelphia, April 9.—While demonstrating the efficiency of a revolver which had been returned by the purchaser, Policeman Thomas A. Gordon, Mrs. Rebecca Siedeman, wife of a gunsmith at 210 South street, pulled the trigger accidentally, sending a bullet through the throat of the officer.

Gordon died twenty minutes later in a hospital.

The Hohenzollern, with 180 First Cabin Passengers, Is Ashore.

Gagliardi, Sardinia, April 9.—The North German Lloyd steamer Hohenzollern, from Alexandria for Marseilles, is ashore at Alghero, Sardinia.

The Hohenzollern was formerly the Kaiser Wilhelm II. She is a single-screw boat and not overfast. She carries 190 first-cabin passengers. Until four years ago the Hohenzollern ran between New York and Genoa.

RYAN AGAIN ON STAND.

Has No Knowledge of Large Contribution in McKinley Campaign.

New York, April 9.—From Thomas F. Ryan's testimony in the Well damage suit for $300 in the Seventh Municipal Court to-day it appears that the $300,000 which figured in the Wall and Cortlandt street ferries railroad deal went originally to P. A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia.

This Wall and Cortlandt transaction has been a subject of investigation by the special grand jury and some witnesses in those proceedings, it is understood, testified that $300,000 had gone for campaign purposes in 1900, which was the year of the second McKinley campaign.

Mr. Ryan disclaimed to-day any knowledge of the use to which the money was put, thus disposing of the reports that he had testified before the grand jury that it had been used in a McKinley campaign fund. To-day was the first time that Mr. Ryan has said anything publicly about the Wall and Cortlandt deal.

HEINZE AGAIN GOES WEST

Copper King Will Give Up Attempt to Beat Wall Street.

Going Back to the Scene of His Former Spectacular Successes to Recoup Fortune.

New York, April 9.—F. Augustus Heinze, shrewd as dogged as he is, has given up for the present his attempt to beat New York at its own game. He is soon to go away from here, where his fortune slipped away from him in a few months as a result of his spreading out from copper mining, which he understands, to banking and the manipulation of the stock market.

He is going back to the West, the scene of his former spectacular successes, to begin all over again at almost the same place as when he went there an obscure mining engineer fifteen years ago on his graduation from Columbia.

By the end of this month he hopes to have made an arrangement satisfactory to his creditors and to be able to start out with a clean slate. To stay away until he can bring back another fortune to renew his fight with the benefit of experience earned in the loss of his first fortune, is said to be his purpose.

Whether he intends to make Butte his headquarters he declined to say. It was there that he won his great triumph, in February, 1906, over the Amalgamated Copper Company and the Standard Oil crowd. In the same month he came East, set up his brothers, Otto C. and Arthur P., in the stock brokerage business, with seats on the New York and Boston exchanges, and announced his intention of building a big trolley road in this State. Then, a few months later, he turned up in control of several important financial institutions here, and became a recognized stock market and financial factor.

PLANS FOR WEDDING.

Royal Jeweler in Rome Is Getting Exceedingly Busy.

London, April 9.—The Globe's correspondent at Rome says that the jeweler of the royal household has received from the King and the Queen Dowager important commissions for presents in connection with the approaching wedding of the Duke of the Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins. Queen Margherita intends to give the bride some valuable specimens from her wonderful collection of old lace for the wedding gown.

It is uncertain whether the wedding will take place in Rome or at Piedmont, but certainly the pair will come to the Quirinal, where rooms are being redecorated under the Queen's personal supervision. They will have the use of ten magnificent apartments facing the square which were formerly occupied by King Humbert and Queen Margherita, but which have not been used since his death.

ANTIS MAY IN END
BE FOR ROOSEVELT

Opponents of Taft Prefer the President.

ONLY MANTO UNITE UPON

Possible Stampede at Chicago Led by "Reactionaries."

Bitterness Between Party Factions Is Growing as the Convention Date Draws Near—Republicans Openly Predict that Bryan Will Win if Administration's Programme to Nominate Taft Be Carried Out.

Taft or Roosevelt.

The nomination of one or the other by the Republican national convention.

This is the judgment to-day of wide-awake, well-informed party men—even of those who do not at heart favor either Taft or Roosevelt.

Fairbanks' candidacy is gaining little, if any, headway; Knox's is at a standstill; Cannon's in a state of coma, and Hughes' undermined to the verge of destruction through the insincerity of his support by scheming, intriguing New York politicians.

The opposition to Taft's nomination is strong enough to defeat him, but it is unable to unite upon any other candidate. It can keep Taft from getting a majority of instructed delegates, but cannot control the uninstructed majority—not for Fairbanks, or Knox, or Cannon, or Hughes.

There is but one man besides Taft who can be nominated at Chicago, apparently, and he—Theodore Roosevelt—is not a candidate. He is for Taft.

Fear Election of Bryan.

The opposition prefers Roosevelt to Taft. It loves him none the more, but it believes he can win. It prefers Roosevelt to Bryan. It wants a candidate who can be elected and one who can keep the House from going Democratic. It is fast coming to the conclusion that Bryan will be the next President, if Roosevelt is not nominated.

This is the attitude of the anti-Taft Republicans to-day. Reactionaries they are called, but better Roosevelt than Taft is the way they feel sixty days before the convention.

It is not the Democrats who are saying that Ohio cannot be carried by Taft; not the Democrats who are giving Indiana to Bryan as against Taft; not the Democrats who are talking about Illinois and Wisconsin being doubtful; not the Democrats who scent political danger in Massachusetts, but Republicans—Republicans of prominence who are opposing Taft and who predict almost openly that if Taft is nominated Bryan will defeat him.

Would Win with Roosevelt.

Republicans who declare that Taft cannot carry Ohio say that that State would be absolutely safe with Roosevelt. Republicans who talk about Indiana and Illinois being doubtful assert that Roosevelt's nomination would insure Republican success overwhelmingly. Though not in political accord with Roosevelt, or in full sympathy with his policies, they contend that he is the strongest man in the country, and, if named at Chicago, would be elected by a large majority than he received in 1904. Moreover, they do not believe that Bryan, whom they regard as the strongest Democrat, would consent to run against him.

Extreme bitterness exists between the Taft and anti-Taft factions of the Republican party. It is not merely on the surface, but deep-seated and apparently irreconcilable. Its depth and intensity is manifest in the willingness of these antis to take Roosevelt rather than Taft and in the growing probability that a stampede to Roosevelt in the convention may be led by the so-called reactionaries.

Anti-third Term Sentiment.

The popular opinion as to Roosevelt's vote-getting strength, if he should run again, is not universal. Some Republicans hold that his nomination would invite disaster. The President himself, who is still stoutly determined not to run, is said to share this feeling, to some extent at least, and men very close to him do not hesitate to express the doubt they feel on the subject. Generally speaking, however, especially in Congress, the idea is prevalent that Roosevelt's nomination would insure Republican success.

Those who question Roosevelt's strength base it upon the anti-third term sentiment. Others, and they are in much the larger number, declare that this sentiment would cut no appreciable figure at the polls.

$30,000,000 SUIT DISMISSED.

Effort to Recover Big Sum from Sugar Trust Fails.

New York, April 8.—The suit brought by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company against the American Sugar Refining Company to recover $30,000,000 triple damages under the Sherman anti-trust law, was formally dismissed to-day by Judge Holt in the United States Circuit Court upon the motion of Henry W. Taft, of counsel for the defendant.

Mr. Taft opposed the application of complainant's counsel for permission to file an amended bill, saying that the amendments proposed contained "scandalous, untrue, and irrelevant statements."

Judge Holt denied the application on the ground that there was no cause of action under the Sherman act, although, in his opinion, the complainant had just grievances on other grounds.

The minority stockholders of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, he said, ought to have some relief for the arbitrary action of the defendant in keeping the complainant's plant closed after acquiring control.
